Alex Daugherty is a newsroom leader on the coverage desk at CNN's Washington, D.C. Bureau, known for his sharp news judgment, organization and passion for breaking stories.

As a local assignment manager, he was the driving force behind the assignment desk, leading morning meetings, assigning and researching stories, collaborating with reporters, conducting interviews, and planing major coverage.

As a weekend assignment editor in Bakersfield, he worked his way up to lead the weekday desk. His colleagues call him the "heartbeat of the newsroom."

Alex launched his career at WTVR-TV in Richmond, VA, and is a proud graduate of Virginia Commonwealth University.
